

ACS Accreditation Fees Higher Education Providers

Current as at May 2016

The Australian Computer Society (ACS) is the recognised accrediting body for information and communications technology (ICT) courses in Australia. We conduct a process of accrediting tertiary courses for professional level membership of the Society. The ACS accreditation service is designed to assist educational institutions who are providing students the appropriate preparation for professional practice in ICT.

ACS Accreditation fees are based on a partial cost recovery basis for the duration of the 5 year cycle of accreditation.
